Time to put that ad in the Intelligence. Look over the things you want to dispose of and put an ad in the paper. Just the time to dispose of, or acquire, a good and many other reasonable things.

Sherry Cook returned Monday from a trip to the Advertiser office. She brought down nine birds. In the race to get back to his home, Sherry lost his boots in Lisbon and had to turn out.

Electricity is something that starts the Lord knows where and ends in the same place. It is 1-36th of a second faster on its feet than its nearest competitor, backyard gossip, and when turned loose in Europe will get to the United States five hours before it starts. Nobody knows exactly what is because it has never stood still long enough.

Electricity is sometimes known as sentence gone crazy with the heat, and if you can understand its maneuvers, you can do anything with it except open a can of peanut butter at a picnic.

Electricity was locked up in ignorance for centuries until Ben Franklin let it out with a pass key, and since then it has been pulling off more new stunts than a pet monkey.

With it you can start a conversation or stop one permanently, cook dinner, curl your hair, press your trousers, blow up a battleship, run an automobile, or signal Mars and many more things are being invented.

ELECTRICITY DEFINED?
Electricity is something that starts the Lord knows where and ends in the same place. It is 1-36th of a second faster on its feet than its nearest competitor, backyard gossip, and when turned loose in Europe will get to the United States five hours before it starts. Nobody knows exactly what is because it has never stood still long enough.

Electricity is sometimes known as sentence gone crazy with the heat, and if you can understand its maneuvers, you can do anything with it except open a can of peanut butter at a picnic.

Electricity was locked up in ignorance for centuries until Ben Franklin let it out with a pass key, and since then it has been pulling off more new stunts than a pet monkey.

With it you can start a conversation or stop one permanently, cook dinner, curl your hair, press your trousers, blow up a battleship, run an automobile, or signal Mars and many more things are being invented.

MODERN CHINESE GIRL

As Seen in Shanghai, China, by Rev.
H. G. C. Halleck

Here comes a letter from this land of the craft, warfare, famine, suffering, to tell you and the readers of this excellent paper about China's new woman, who has a share in the "going-down."

It is a woman in China, twenty years ago, who was a Rip Van Winkle sleeper. He awoke today. Then women came to the indoors and work something like the modern woman. One of the better ones was a woman who had a share in the "going-down."

Now what a change! The modern Chinese woman skip around the city with a spring and grace and freedom, quite as refreshing when one sees the women formerly hobbling about on feet supported by amahs.
Now the single or permanent wife is a sign of freedom. The modern Chinese woman, play tennis, basketball, and engage in other athletics. Formerly the women arranged their marriages and were often seen in arm with their boys, and the young people were arranged. The dress used to be the most modest of any nationality.
Now women are often seen with short skirts and very low-necked frocks even in public. Sometimes they're seen in the most up-to-date up-to-date frocks and flimsy silk hose and high-heeled shoes. Indeed the Chinese girls are quite amusing flappers and sometimes—so much so that the officials have felt it necessary to issue regulations commanding them to dress modestly. The girls have even learned to flirt in the most up-to-date style. They ride horses astride, and are doing the best of it. "That's the way to know."

One school for girls was that they be taught beautiful needlework at home.
Now they are doing other things. They are in stores. Some are typists and stenographers. Some are bankers, some are organ or piano or other musicians. Some are becoming actresses. Some are teachers and kindergarten teachers. They even become secretaries and sometimes they become secretaries. Women also become corner politicians and scream at revolutionary platitudes such as "Down with imperialism!" "Give the people freedom!" to beat the most zealous revolutionaries. Barely do you see meetings for propaganda or riots without seeing girls or women taking active part in them, urging on the riots.
I am glad to say that some few of them are taking part in the Red Cross work in relieving the suffering of those wounded in battle.

Women, too, occupy places of influence in the government in Nanking.
One woman's faces lacked all hope and confidence and there are still great hosts of women who are the same drudge as their mothers-in-law in great factories. But among the younger generation they have ambition that carries them to foreign lands.

I am glad to say that there are many modern, motherly women who have gone through our mission schools who are making clean, beautiful Christian homes where the children are brought up well and taught to be good useful members of society. Children of whom they and missions can be proud and thankful.
One cannot expect great things from a nation in which the people have been brought up for ages in filth, physical and mental decay. A new generation is coming and it is the church of Christ and in these clean Christian homes. We are expecting much for China from such things as are out of joint in China; but the hope and pray that the common sense of the Chinese and the deeply planted power of the Gospel will gradually overcome the criminal influences and that China will find peace, prosperity, and a place among the great nations of the world.

THE POWER OF THOUGHT

Power is physical and mental, constructive and destructive. To understand power, to know how to combat destructive forces and how to use constructive forces is the science of life and the secret of man's domination of the world.

More size is nothing. A thousand massive locomotives have less energy, less power than the invisible electric power running along a third rail, a mysterious current that man does not understand any more than he understands thought, a current that travels with the speed of light, has no shape or substance, weight or volume, nothing that man can perceive, except by its effects.

Man uses that power without knowing what it is. It carries passengers, lights cities, runs washing machines, sweeps floors, cools refrigerators and heats homes, cooks food, kills criminals, carries messages, words and music through the air, lifts gigantic weights and operates factories and farms. In the world of material things, an electric current, which can be taken from the power of winds, falling water, fuel, or the ocean tides, has power irresistible.

Man has been given the use of electric power by another power that is both constructive and destructive and even mightier and more elusive than electricity.
It is the power of thought.

Thought is at once the greatest and most coveted of forces. It is denied to new who seek it, and should be developed by all possessed of the necessary mental equipment. But thought should be constructive, thought misguided and misapplied being little better than the absence of thought.

"Thought takes man out of servitude into freedom," wrote Emerson—Commercial.

Men resemble needles; when they are broken, women have no use for them.

Attending Springfield Exposition

Five From Bryant's Pond On The Trip—Interesting Letters and Insight Into The Work of the Club Members

When the boys and girls of the 4-H Clubs left Portland, Sept. 14th, for the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., there were among them four girls and one boy from Bryant's Pond. The girls, Alice Felt and Harriet Abbott and the boy, Hilding Gustafson, the guests of the Maine State Chamber of Commerce, the other two girls, Evelyn Howe and Arline Littlehale, went to Camp Vail, the guests of the Russell Miller Co.

Of his club work, Hilding Gustafson writes: "I joined the Lake Christopher Garden Club three years ago and was fourteen then, was interested in baseball and they were talking of having a team so I became a member, but did not have much chance for a garden that year as I was in the country only a short time that summer. The second year I was on a farm and had a better chance for a garden. Not only did I have my own garden, but worked quite a lot in other gardens and became interested in agriculture and farm work. Honors to go to Springfield came as a surprise to me last year. I plan to go and am sure I shall enjoy myself."

Arline Littlehale writes: "I am sixteen years old and a junior in high school. This is my first year in 4-H Club work. I have missed a great deal by not joining a club before. However, I have tried to make up a little by taking two projects this year, sewing and cooking and housekeeping. Although I am not choosing sewing or cooking for my life work, I am glad to know something about them. The work I have done this summer has taught me to act and think more quickly, which in itself is an achievement. I have enjoyed both projects very much, but prefer the cooking housekeeping, and have the pleasure and privilege of keeping house for a family of four, including one small child not quite one year old. It was good practice for me and helped to boost my club work. I was fortunate enough to be chosen to help represent my club at the bread making contest in our county and we were chosen to compete at the State Contest at Auburn, winning the contest there won for us the trip to Springfield, to which we are looking forward with great anticipation."

Much of my success in winning is due to the splendid co-operation of my teammates, Evelyn Howe and to the able leadership of Mrs. Marie Kimball and Mrs. Addie Mann. I couldn't have pushed my projects through (as they say in the State Club Song) if it had not been for them, much less go to Springfield. I have been so engrossed in bread making practice and getting ready to go away that my sewing project would surely have been left undone if the sewing project leaders, Mrs. Mann and Mrs. Edith Abbott, had not spent a great deal of time with me. Thanks to them I can see my way clear to completing all my work required this year and to realize the dream of every 4-H Club member."

Arline's teammate says: "My name is Evelyn Howe, but everyone calls me 'Slabby'. I am fourteen years old and belong to the Future Housekeepers 4-H Club of Woodstock. This is my first year in club work and I have enjoyed it immensely. I have been benefited by it greatly for when I entered 4-H work this year I knew very little about cooking and had never made yeast bread before. It was a surprise when we won out at the County Demonstration Contest at South Paris, July 21st. We never imagined that we would win at Auburn but meant to do our best which was for us the Springfield trip. I have had hard work to believe that I am to go to Springfield. The year is nearly finished and I know that I can prepare a meal as well as to cook all dishes prepared by us at the meetings. I am a sophomore in Woodstock High School and like my school work very much, last year I was treasurer to my class and took part in the prize speaking contest."

Though Alice Felt lives three and one-half miles from the village and to attend the club meetings it nearly always means a walk to and from Bryant's Pond, one knows that she is interested in her work, she writes: "I am a senior in Woodstock High School and am seventeen years of age. I have belonged to the sewing club for seven years and to the cooking and housekeeping club for five years. I think I enjoy sewing the best, although cooking and housekeeping would be my next choice. I was chosen County Champion in sewing last year and went to Orono with my classmates, Harriet Abbott, who was also chosen County Champion in room improvement. This came as a total surprise to us both but we had a fine time while there. I have been president of the Future Housekeepers' Club, vice-president three times of the Future Housekeepers and the U-Kan Club and held three times of the U-Kan and the Future Housekeepers Clubs."

This year I have enrolled in six projects, sewing, cooking, and housekeeping, canning, chick raising, room improvement and gardening. Under the splendid leadership of Mrs. Addie Mann, Mrs. Marie Kimball, Mrs. Edith Abbott and George Emmerson, I have received a great deal of help and knowledge from these projects and regret I did not join some of them until this year. Because of the splendid co-operation of our leaders with us we've extended to them a great deal of credit."

This year I had a still greater surprise when I saw in the paper where three from our club were to go to Springfield, to the Eastern States Exposition, the guests of the Maine State Chamber of Commerce. This gave us more enthusiasm about our work for we wanted to go. Now this fall we have two State Champions from our club, Arline Littlehale and Evelyn Howe. We all certainly appreciate the hours they have spent in their demonstration to gain honors for our club. Again I wish to thank our past and present leaders for the splendid leadership they have given us during our years of 4-H Club work."

Harriet Abbott writes: "I have been in 4-H Club work six years. The Sewaway Junior Sewing Club with Mrs. Sadie Lakeway and my mother as leaders was organized in 1923. I was secretary that year. I have received a great deal of help and knowledge from these projects and regret I did not join some of them until this year. Because of the splendid co-operation of our leaders with us we've extended to them a great deal of credit."

This year I had a still greater surprise when I saw in the paper where three from our club were to go to Springfield, to the Eastern States Exposition, the guests of the Maine State Chamber of Commerce. Our club leaders have been very helpful and have taken a great deal of interest in us. Mr. and Mrs. Mann have made the meetings at their home very interesting and jolly.

Alice and Harriet both belong to Franklin Grange, Bryant's Pond, and Harriet is pianist of the Grange orchestra.

Mrs. C. S. Cheever and Dorothy Moore went on a motor trip, recently, to Montreal, leaving North Waterford, Tuesday morning. They took the route through Bethel to Gorham, and across New Hampshire and Vermont, crossing the line at North Troy, and spent the night at Hotel Mansouville, Quebec. They reached Montreal the next day at noon and spent two days and nights in the city, stopping at Tourist's Lodge, kept by an English speaking woman. They visited the principal places of interest, including Notre Dame Church and the Shrine of St. Joseph, where many people were attending the annual fair. Her four children, Mrs. Sadie Littlefield, Mrs. Geo. Kneeland, Berry's Mills; Burnham Rice, North Waterford, with whom she made her home; Mrs. Florence R. Johnson of Somerville, Mass. She passed away at her home church here. She was laid to rest in Woodland cemetery beside her husband, who passed away several years ago. The deceased was born in Boston, Mass., Dec. 14th, 1842. She was the oldest member of the church here.

In her younger days she sang in the choir and was always ready to help and assist in any way on any occasion as health permitted her to go. Prayers were at the house by Rev. Hatt of Dixfield. The funeral was largely attended. There was just a large bank of beautiful flowers. Rev. and Mrs. Bull sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Crossing the Bar." Rev. W. L. Bull officiated. Besides her children, she leaves a sister, Mrs. Ella Taft, of Massachusetts, the last of a family of 12 children; also several grandchildren, and a host of friends mourn their loss. The bearers were George H. Rice, McVillie Knight, Charles P. Saunders and Winfield S. Perkins.

Ed Farmer is not as well. He has been digging his potatoes and it seemed too much for him.

Schools opened Monday, with Miss Stone from Waterford in the grammar room and Hazel Demeritt, primary room. Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Libby were Sunday guests at his parents' at Minot.
